Another group can visit Chachtice castle and Catacombs in Čachtice town.

Čachtice castle was built in the first half of the 13th century. He was one of the first castles to ensure the western border of Hungary, especially 13 century, when it managed the royal castle warden. In 1273 he was attacked and severely damaged the Bohemian King Ottokar II. Among the first lords of the castle were Peter and Pongrác of the House of Hunt-Poznan, time belonged to the Matus Cak of Trencin. In 1392 he moved to the property Stibora from Stiborice, who owned 15 castles in character. In 1467 imprisoned in the castle Hussite commander John Svehla. The castle was mainly to protect the borders of Hungary, because it was built as a massive fortress. Never become a sumptuous seat. Living in the castle was uncomfortable. The only little bit decorated part of the castle was the chapel. Since 1569 the owners were Nadasdys. In 1708 the castle was conquered armies Francis II. Rákoci and has started to deteriorate, albeit in a while served as a prison.

In the past centuries Čachtice are referred to as a small town, or a large village of agricultural character. Consistently excellent wine cellars, which allude to far and wide can't be seen. It is interesting to note that for some stone mills and cellars were in the hallway-catacombs (the usual term in Čachticiach), which were the secret hiding places for people and will certainly serve as premises and their possessions, or religious goals. They were excellent for the storage of wine, sometimes even agricultural products (potatoes, sugar beet) – stone with reasonable humidity and excellent ventilation.
